COUNSELLING

Counselling is a process that enables to sort out issues and reach decisions affecting their life. Often counselling is sought out a time of change or crisis, it need not be so however as counselling can also help us at any time of our life. Counselling involves talking with a person in a way that helps a person solve a problem or helps to create conditions that will cause person to solve a problem or helps to create conditions that will cause a person to understand and /or improve his /her behavior, character, values or life circumstances. In the end of the counselling process, the client himself /herself as an insight to the problem and he/she becomes empowered to take his or her own decision.

The Counsellor's View point

As the counsellor, I had to deal with not counselling but also address issues and to manage the help desk to help our students and parents. Throughout the year, I met students staff and parents addressing many issues like peer pressure, parental pressure, academic pressure and personal problems, relationship problems, depression, career guidance, shortage of attendance, misconduct, enquiries, ventilation, interpersonal problems, relationship problems and other issues. I have maintained confidentiality and dealt with each individual on a non-judgmental basis. Certain sensitive matters had to be taken up with the principal and handled delicately. I have maintained confidential reports after every session and also maintained a record of work on a daily basis. I have also got feedback from students, parents and staff on the sessions that were conducted. Certain case follows up sessions were taken up by me. Students who had approached me seeking help have also brought their classmates and friends for various issues. This shows a definite positive impact of my counselling services. Respondents were asked for general comments or remarks of the service provided. My primary tasks to support the academic session of the college by providing a range of interventions which enhance a student's ability to be consistently engaged with achieving their academic potential.
